It is not expected that in his Lordship s advanced age, he should retain that strength of recollection and judgment, sufficient to render him capable of making proper distinction and decision in the merits of the debate. Observations had been made, by the reverend Mr. Charles Bulkley, on his three former discourses; - but, as he is no other, not any better than a little schismatical dissenting teacher, it was not likely his Lordship, or his Editor s should so far forget themselves, and step out of the road of priesthood, to take notice of a writer, who was so stupid, as to maintain, that the revelation has been made to man, as well by nature and reason, as by divinely inspired writings. And that these do and must universally harmonize. About the Publisher Forgotten Books publishes hundreds of thousands of rare and classic books.
