I believe you were right in the favourable opinion of the gentleman whom we suppose the cause of her uneasiness. She could not love an unworthy object, if we looked only to the goodness of her heart; and her understanding is too enlightened to be easily deceived by appearances. I mean very soon to see Norbury, and shall thus meet with you again. I shall sit as near Augusta at the breakfast-table as possible, that I may have a glance at the handwritings when they come in. Lady Nelthorpe!--Heaven be praised, dear friend, for your charity to the profligate! it must give me so constantly the benefit of your compassion. My Lady shall owe her pictures to you. Believe me, with the truest gratitude, Dear...
