Forgotten Books, 2017. Paperback. Condition: New. Language: English . Brand New Book  Print on Demand . Excerpt from Proceedings: Conference of Farmers Institute and Short Course Workers on Permanent and Sanitary Farm Improvements Mr. Gore: Gentlemen, it is altogether fitting that a meeting Of those who are interested in agriculture should be held in Chicago. Chicago owes to agriculture, more than to any other one thing, its permanence in trade. Chicago is not unappreciative of the fact that her great growth, her present importance, is very largely due to the commerce that has ?owed from the farms Of the West through this great lake port. She realizes, too, that her permanence, if it is to continue, must be based upon the prosperity of the surrounding country. Chicago, therefore, feels a deep and abiding interest in the matters which appeal most strongly to you in your daily lives, and is most anxious that any advance which can be made in agriculture, shall be made. It is in Chicago that you must look for the outlet Of much that you produce, as it is the great market for all Of the Northwest this side of the mountains, and a very considerable portion of the Southwest. We feel that our interests are mutual, and we are entirely sincere in Offering you a hearty welcome to the city of Chicago. We welcome you to everything that we have to give. We trust that every moment Of your stay in our city may be fraught with pleasure, and that you may look back upon your visit feeling that it has been one of profit, and one that you will cherish in your memory in the years to come. It is a wonderfully significant thing that one of the great manufacturing industries Of the world...
