Excerpt from Song-Captives The very ?attering reception accorded to my first book of poems, five years ago, must be my excuse for the publication of a second volume. Poetry is my pastime, not my vocation, and these Captives are the spoils of Pccasional excursions, on this continent and abroad, at periods When overwork in an arduous profession has compelled rest and change of scene. I em deeply conscious of their many defects; I would they were more worthy; but, such as they are, I free.
