Excerpt from Christ and Human Need, 1921: Being Addresses Delivered at a Conference on International and Missionary Questions, Glasgow, January 4th to 9th, 1921 And as far as any human utterance is adequate to such an occasion and such a theme, the speeches were worthy of their audience; Lord Grey, With his closely reasoned sentences, stripped bare of all rhetoric and delivered with a steady and deliberate calm, set a high standard from the first. Fearlessly outspoken as was the treatment of every topic, strong as were the feelings with which the various races received the record of British failure and British aspirations, quick as the audience was to grasp each point, and to detect any evasion, the speeches rang true. Their manifest sincerity compelled admiration, even when their outlook challenged established convictions. We listened and learned - even when the lesson was most damaging to our national pride.
